Co-Pastors' Corner... Preparing for a recent sermon on 1 John 4:13-21, Dan came across the following words.

All God's activity is loving activity. If God creates, God does it in love. If God rules, God does it in love. If God judges, God does it in love. God cannot help it—God is love. The gospel answer to the human problem of anxiety, mortality, and meaninglessness is simple—God is love. Dare we preach it in any other way? In this world of impersonal forces, ruthless power, and extremely complicated international issues, some may want another gospel, but to proclaim anything less than the heart of the universe as being a pulse of mercy with infinite passion is to betray the gospel.

(William Self, in Feasting on the Word: Preaching the Revised Common Lectionary, Year B, Vol. 2, David L. Bartlett and Barbara Brown Taylor, gen. eds., © 2008 Westminster John Knox Press, p. 469)

"A pulse of mercy with infinite passion"—can you hear the beating heart of God? This is the center of our faith as Christians, the image of God shown to us by Jesus Christ and poured into our hearts by the Holy Spirit. God is love, God loves the world, and God commands our love for God and for others. Everything else ought to spring from this center.

That is our challenge as Christ's people, and that's why we come together as church. A few years ago our church focused on six marks of discipleship. The credit card-sized reminder of those six marks is still taped to my computer. (We have more if you'd like one!) The "six marks" are tools for learning and living God's love, together.

- Pray daily – because as in any relationship, communication nourishes love
- Worship weekly- because joined with other Christians, praising God expresses and deepens love for God
- Read the Bible- to learn of God's love for the world through the ages and for eternity
- Serve at and beyond the church- to show love for others, neighbors and strangers
- Be in relationship to encourage spiritual growth in others – Loving relationships are how we become part of God's "pulse of mercy with infinite passion."

Give of time, talents, and resources- Love is always about sharing what we've been given!

This is the time of year when our church asks everyone to commit, or re-commit, to faithful living, together. What could be more important than joining with the heart of the universe to commit to learning and living love?

Enhancing Our Conversation With God

"Teach me, O God, to put You first in everything I do. Show me how to take delight in You, that my heart will be transformed to be like Yours."

From Our Daily Bread, September 28, 2018

Session Notes September 27

Events coming up:

—November 1-7, Dan and Jody are going to the Parliament of the World's Religions in Toronto. Jody will get a certificate in Indigenous Cultural Awareness through the participation in a series of workshops.

—Presbytery of the Yellowstone meets November 2 and 3, Bozeman, at First Presbyterian Church. An evening meal, breakfast, and breaks will be provided as hospitality to our fellow Presbyterians who come from across the Presbytery for these meetings.

Volunteers Needed

—A volunteer is needed to take care of our church's library. For more information email Holly Aloise at hollyaloise@gmail.com or Brent Turner at bettarcamping@gmail.com. Thank you to Jenny Beard for her kind care of the library for a several years.

—Volunteers are needed for meals served to the congregation. Please call Debby Haynes at 581-0925 (email DeborahC.Haynes@gmail.com) to volunteer for set-up, preparing dishes, and clean-up. I need you!

Learning and Living God's Love, Together: Courageous Conversations

Please join your fellow church members for five Wednesday nights on October 10, October 17, October 24, November 7, and November 14. The evening will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a light supper (soup, bread, and dessert). At 6:00 p.m., we will convene to hear an expert talk about a topic. Around 6:30 p.m., we will have a discussion to determine what our Christian response might be. The evening will close at 7:00 p.m. (in time for choir rehearsal). Please watch for more information on this intriguing set of conversations.

Stewardship Campaign

The Stewardship Campaign will kick off on September 30, 2018. Please pray about your role in the upcoming Stewardship Campaign. You will be receiving a pledge card within the next week. Session members will be encouraging you from the pulpit each Sunday for the next month to share their good stories and positive attitudes about giving a portion of the blessing God provides to each of us to the church.

Submitted by Elder Debby Haynes

OMBUD: The person who will listen to your suggestions, concerns, complaints and compliments.

This quarter our OMBUD from the session is Kris Hall she will be happy to answer your questions and listen to what you have to say. You can speak with her personally or contact her by phone (586-6996) or email kris@hallcontrols.com She will follow-up with Session.

2 Corinthians 9:7

"Each man should give what he has decided in his heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver."

Thank you for giving your time, talents, and financial contributions.

Without your generous support we could not do all the great things we do to Glorify God.

Below is a table showing our financial status as of the end of August 2018

Learning God's Love, Together: Wednesday Supper and "Courageous Conversations" Series

Mark your calendars, because you are invited to supper! Wed., Oct. 10, at 5:30 pm, is the first in a series of simple suppers to be served in the Fellowship Hall for the church family. These meals will also be offered on Oct. 17 and 24 and Nov. 7 and 14. (We are skipping Halloween.) Gathering around tables is one way we learn love together—we love one another.

The supper will be immediately followed by one hour of "Courageous Conversations" for adults and "Kids' Club" for kids. Each week, adults will hear from a knowledgeable person on a challenging topic, while the kids will engage in hands-on community service projects. Our goal is to learn about current issues, discussing these together in a safe, non-judgmental environment, with an eye to developing our Christian response to these issues. What might we do together to bring forth God's love in the world?

The topics and scheduled speakers are:

- Oct 10 "Refugees 101" Chelsea Eddy, Gallatin Refugee Connections
- Oct 17 "Human Trafficking—Here? In Montana?" Sarabeth Rees, Haven
- Oct 24 TBA
- Nov 7 "Gun Safety—At Home, in Schools, in Churches" Scott McCormick, Bozeman Police Dept.
- Nov 14 "Housing the Homeless" Connie Campbell-Pearson, Deacon, St. James Episcopal Church

If you are able to help with simple meal preparation, cleanup, or with the Kids' Club, contact Jody McDevitt (jody@fpcbozeman.org), Alison Todd (alison@fpcbozeman.org), or Debby Haynes (deborahc.haynes@gmail.com).

FIRST FRIDAY - October 5

FELLOWSHIP HALL – FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Join us at 5:30 for a spaghetti dinner - movie – popcorn – and ice cream for dessert as we discuss the implications in our lives from a Christian viewpoint of the movie for the month,

TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD. The movie starring Gregory Peck, was released in December 1962 and is currently listed as the 29th best film of all time by Internet Database. Focusing on the coming of age of three young children, it sees good and evil of the world through the eyes of a child. It is set in 1932 in a small town in Alabama and uses the time as a backdrop for the portrait of a brave white liberal. The concepts of segregation, prejudice, justice, forgiveness, and equality will be topics for discussion.

If you will be bringing children, please call the church office to arrange for a sitter and allow us to provide appropriate movies for the younger set.

Thanksgiving Baskets for Community - FPC Deacon's

Stay tuned for details to come on helping the FPC Deacons fill baskets for families in our community who might not otherwise have resources to have a traditional Thanksgiving dinner.

God's love has been poured into our hearts. (Rom. 5:5)

Stewardship in our Lives

Growing up on a farm in Northern Montana, I learned much about stewardship of the earth and saving and using all we had. One of my most vivid memories was making cookies with my grandmother and her telling me that even though I thought the bowl was empty, if I scraped it there would be more cookies and there were more cookies for us to eat and share with my family! To this day, I must scrape out the bowl to use it all.

Sometimes we feel we that we have nothing to give, but then we realize there is still something that we can give especially when we look at all the blessings God has given us and we are overwhelmed with the gratitude for what we have been blessed with.

My cousin daily posts three gratitudes and it is a reminder to me, of how many blessings I have received and that God gives them so freely! So what can I do in return for those blessings? Scripture talks about time, talents and tithes. All of us are granted the same amount of hours in the day, how we use them is up to us, so perhaps I could offer to help out on reading to the kids in Sunday School, help complete a project, greet on Sunday's, turn the lights off when the room is empty or even help clean the pews after church and there is always prayer for another person.

Sharing of talents is sometimes the most challenging for us. It's always hard to think about what talents we have and how we can share them, but again, there are so many small things we can do, whether it be sharing garden produce, helping out with an event or using another talent we have.

Then comes the sharing of our money. When you work on commission, it's hard to figure out what you have to give, some years are good, some not so good, but I know that God has always provide for all of our needs. In our PW circles we give the least coin in our purse to the least coin offering and it is truly amazing how much money is raised every year to help the world be a better place. So as we all think about what we can give, let's first think about what God has given to us and try to match that generosity even though we will never be able to succeed on that goal!

First Presbyterian Women's Book Group

The Women's Book Group is rearranging to better accommodate more women who would like to join us. We are now meeting the fourth Wednesday of the month at noon in room 204 with the first meeting October 25. For the month of October we will be reading Just Mercy: A Story of Justice and Redemption by Bryan Stevenson. For more information contact Linda at the church office, 586-9194 or feel free to check out a book at the church office, read it and join us on October 25 for stimulating discussion. Feel free to bring your lunch, coffee and tea will be provided.

We are using the Bozeman Public Library book kit.

Family Promise Hosts 12th Annual Cardboard Box City Oct 13

First Presbyterian Church has been represented at Family Promise's fund raiser every year since it began, and 2018 is no different. Spending the night in Bogert Park under the pavilion, learning about homelessness from those who have experienced it, enjoying games and pizza, and competing in categories such as "best slogan," "most artistic," and "most pledges made," the event is both educational and fun. If you want to support Family Promise but would rather spend your night in your own bed, you can sponsor one or more of the following youth and adults.

Youth: Martha Aloise, Danielle Berg, Dayna Berg, Kimi Farhat, Graham Overton, Jonas Overton, Adynn Small

Adults: Dan Berg, Jody McDevitt, Rachel Turner

You can send an email to Jody(jody@fpcozeman.org), who will assign your donation to one of the youth.

(Children also participating: Deliala Berg, Delia Turner, Jolene Turner, Arden Turner)

Youth plan summer 2019 mission trip

Our Presby Youth are enthusiastically planning to join Sierra Service Project (SSP) in the summer of 2019 for another week of service, learning, faith, and fun. Because of SSP's priority registration process, we will not know for certain where our destination will be nor even the week we will travel until November, but this month we will be submitting our request to go to San Diego July 14-20, with a backup destination of Chiloquin, Oregon either July 28-Aug 2 or July 7-13.

Youth who will be entering 6th grade or completing 12th grade in summer 2019 are invited to participate. Questions? Contact Jody McDevitt or any of the youth and adults who participated in 2018. A commitment must be made by Oct 15.

Gallatin Valley Ecumenical Taizé Prayer 2018-2019

Since World War II, Roman Catholic and Protestant Christians, inspired by the Taizé Community (<https://www.taize.fr/en>) in France, have come together around the world for ecumenical worship and fellowship. In this spirit, a community of churches in the Gallatin Valley gather amidst quiet, icons, and candles – to pray, read Scripture and sing for about 50 minutes the second Sunday of each month at 7 PM. The music emphasizes simple phrases, often from Psalms or other passages of Scripture, sung as a chant.

This year's host church is St. James Episcopal Church, 5 West Olive Street (on the corner of Olive and Tracy Streets). Thank you to Resurrection (2016-2017) and Bozeman United Methodist (2017-2018) for their hospitality. Each 2nd Monday at 7:00 PM on the 2nd Monday of the month October – May, except March, a different church leads. January 14 everyone is invited to gather ahead at 6:00 PM for a simple super. (Bring a side dish to share.)

Advance Care Planning Workshop October 28

“When it comes to end-of-life care, talking matters.” That’s the motto of the Conversation Project, a nationwide effort to encourage families to talk about their wishes for end-of-life care. On Sunday, October 28, Hospice of Bozeman Health will provide lunch and an introduction to this movement for members of First Presbyterian Church in our Fellowship Hall.

The workshop will be led by Debbie Butz, BSN, RN, and Community Educator as well as the Rev. Tim Spring, hospice chaplain. All adults should consider attending, learning more about advance care planning for parents, self, and others. Come learn about the Montana Advance Health Care Directive, a legal document which can help care providers and family members with health care choices. A Christian congregation is an ideal setting for talking about decisions which must be made regarding advancing age and the possibility of serious illness, because we affirm that in life and in death, we belong to God.

RSVP to the church office by October 22.

Gallatin Valley CROP Hunger Walk

The Gallatin Valley CROP Hunger Walk (a 10 k walk) will be held, rain or shine, Sunday, October 21, at 1:30 p.m., beginning at the Food Bank (602 Bond St.). Donations given to walkers will help to alleviate hunger at home and abroad. 25% of funds raised will support the Gallatin Valley Food Bank and the Fork & Spoon Cafe. The rest will go to Church World Service to be used where needed. Church World Service is at work in over 30 countries including the U.S. See Judy Mathre (587-8666) or mathre@q.com for more information, or to pick up a sponsor envelope. The following people are looking for sponsors: Don Mathre, Joanne Jennings, Dan Krebill, Suzanne Bratsky, Sally Broughton, and Holly Aloise. For more information about the relief work of CWS see their website at: www.churchworldservice.org.

This year it is possible for donors to make a digital walk. This year the church has two online teams, one for the church and the other for the Presby Cats. To donate to the teams go to crophungerwalk.org. Then page down to the Bozeman location on the map to take you to the Gallatin Valley Crop Hunger Walk webpage. The teams are listed. Click on the team you would like to support and follow the instructions for donating online.

Giving to First Presbyterian Church

In addition to traditional methods, First Presbyterian Church offers the option of making financial contributions to the church electronically via the web or by texting. Contributions via the web can be made from the online giving link on the church’s website, www.fpcbozeman.org or by scanning this QR code with your Smartphone. To give by text, simply text the amount of your gift and any designation to 406-278-6267. Thank you!

Faith, Science, and Climate Action Conference: Is Climate Change a Religious Issue?

The Rev. Canon Sally Grover Bingham's answer for several decades is a strong "YES." Bingham will speak at 7:15 pm on Friday, Oct 12, at the Emerson Center as the first keynote speaker of the first annual Faith, Science, and Climate Action Conference (www.fscaconference.org). Her lecture will be FREE and open to the public.

Bingham, an Episcopal priest and Canon for the Environment in the Diocese of California, is the founder of Interfaith Power and Light, a nationwide organization which helps congregations "go green." When she was a layperson in the pews in the 1980s, praying from the Book of Common Prayer about reverence for the earth and loving neighbors, she began to realize that we can't show the earth reverence nor love neighbors if we are polluting the air they breathe. She went back to college, then seminary, then ordination to answer her call to lead people of faith to better care for the earth.

Saturday's programs include two more keynote addresses. Dr. Katharine Hayhoe, an atmospheric scientist at Texas Tech University, will present a live webinar. Dr. Bruce Maxwell of the Institute on Ecosystems of Montana State University will report on the recently completed Montana Climate Assessment. Following these addresses, there will be five workshop options, all with the goal of providing usable action steps for congregations and individuals.

Registration for the full conference is still open. Visit the website (above) for full information.

Interfaith Forum Starts Wednesday, October 3, TODAY

With Franke Wilmer, professor of political science and international relations.

Come hear the interfaith panel discuss what they see, and what this means for our faith and our world. The Interfaith Forum began more than ten years ago, and has grown every year since its founding. Regular panelists are Jody McDevitt, Rabbi Ed Stafman (Congregation Beth Shalom), Father Leo Proxell (Holy Rosary Catholic Church) and Ruhul or Shadmani Amin (Islamic Center of Bozeman).

The forum is held on the first Wednesdays of the month at 12 noon, at Resurrection University Catholic Parish at 1725 S. 11th Ave.

A brochure listing the year's topics is available at the church.

Holland-days...

(by Dan Holland)

Last week it was hard to avoid the US Senate Judiciary Committee's hearings on the nomination of Judge Brett Kavanaugh to the Supreme Court. The hearings dominated every form of media: television, radio, print, internet, you name a platform and it was focused on the hearings. The reason for the breathless coverage had less to do with the nomination and more to do with a topic that has stepped out from the shadows in the past two years, sexual abuse.

On Saturday night I attended the annual fund raising gala for Haven, a local non-profit dedicated to advocacy for the victims of domestic abuse (full disclosure: I don't attend many fund-raisers like this, but my wife is a member of Haven's administrative staff.) It was a perfectly lovely evening held at the Commons and it was well attended. The gala featured the normal noshing, hobnobbing, auctioning, and atmosphere intended to loosen the pocket books of the attendees.

The most riveting moment of the evening came later in the program when four women gave testimonials of their experience as survivors of both physical and psychological abuse. The women took turns on the purposely darkened stage stepping into a single illuminating spotlight. This dramatic effect was meant to add emphasis to the theme of the night: this is our renaissance, step into the light.

Lately the #MeToo movement has cast a harsh light on some perfectly awful behavior by some powerful people in our society. The movement has also had the ancillary benefit of awakening many other people to the prevalence of abuse in our society. Haven has been operating for nearly forty years and each year it provides services to more survivors than the year before. Despite our best intentions the problem is not going away.

The movement has also given rise to a new term — woke, as in “We are woke (or have awareness and sympathy) to the plight of survivors.” I am now certainly more woke than I had been after listening to the testimonials of those four women. I also think that woke is another manifestation of Christ's charge to us — to love our neighbors.

In the aftermath of the Judiciary hearings I was heartened by at least one aspect, the mention of prayer. Judge Kavanaugh said he and his young daughter had been praying for his accuser. Then a member of the minority, Sen. Chris Coons, indicated he, too, had been praying for the accuser, but also for the accused. May it be that we are all woke to the power of prayer.
